The exhibit in this department is remarkable, not only for its large variety of beautiful styles, but also for the very low prices, quality considered.

We are exclusive agents in Wellington for the famous "Mrs. Hopkins Make" of Clothing for Boys' and Children. There is an exclusive wear-resisting quality in this line that commends itself to every parent, and a nobbiness that gives the wearer confidence in himself and defies rips, tears and patches.

Among the many strong points in the "Mrs. Hopkins Make" of clothing are the following: "Hold-Fast Buttons", "Elastic Waist Bands", "Double Seat and Knees" and "Warranted not to Rip". Whether you want to buy a suit for your boy or not, we think you will be interested to see the many pretty styles we are showing this season in child's "Vestee" suits made from best materials, in Serges, Cassimers and Cheviots, ages 3 to 8 at $2.50 to $3.00.

You can find any style and pattern desired in the ages from 7 to 15 at $2.50 to $5.00.

THE BRAVE BOERS.

THEIR HISTORY IS FULL OF THRILLING ROMANCE.

William Schroeder. Furnishes an Enterprise Correspondent With Some Facts Concerning Them That are Not Generally Known.

For The Enterprise.

As a face or the handwriting may reflect the character of an individual, so are inherent in words, the habits, struggles and origin of a people. Language is the quarry from which may be extracted the secrets of unwritten history. Anglo-Saxon is a hyphenation which, when examined within the spectroscopic light of an analytical mind, resolves itself into a thrilling romance.

This is the race whose dialect is common with that of Thebes, Persia, Germany, Holland and England. They are free thinkers, and have consequently been the pioneers of the world, their independent methods urging them into new fields, where the exercise of liberal thought and action might find undisputed indulgence. They were first forbidden the monastic rights of Limerick, and migrating northward and westward, they colonized Persia and Central Europe, settling Brandenburg, Germany, about 400 A. D.

Of fish and game. Land game was trapped in sacks. Hence the name. Saxon, as a word, has received a Roman influence, the aspirates, ch, ck and sch being replaced by the more euphonic Latin ix.

This bold tribe is aggressive only in the zeal with which they have pushed their homes into the hearts of primeval forests, dense jungles, marshes and mountains. As the Puritans, they faced the wilds of wood and savage on the American continent; as the Netherlands, they rescued a vast estate from the very jaws of mighty ocean, and as the Boers, they braved the perils of darkest Africa. Though ever retiring in habit, yet at times they have turned, and when, their persecutors have been crushed.

The Boers, with whom it is the aim of this article to deal, migrated to South Africa in 1784, choosing withdrawal to acceptance of the Catholic ultimatum proclaimed in France, Germany and Holland during the Lutheran Reformation.

Though composed of these three branches, this colony was known by the people name of Boers. Boer means to build or cultivate, and in "boer" is the double significance. "Boer" is a mispronunciation. Bown is the German for farmer. They named the Cape of Good Hope, on sighting, which their hopes arose. Cape Town was the first settlement. Before many years the English drove the Boers north, except that portion of the population who remained as voluntary subjects to Great Britain. The excuse for this attack arose from England's strife with France in Napoleon's time; she identifying Cape Colony with France, took it from the Dutch, who had sided with France in that war.

A few years later, when the diamond fields were discovered, a large per cent of the Boers were again driven north. Since gold has been discovered in Transvaal, another effort has been made on the part of the United Kingdom to still further dispossess the pioneer tenants.

The whole history of the English occupancy of this territory is one of impudent lawlessness. She has no more right in the South African Republic than have I to my neighbor's farm or you to the goods of your village shopman without purchase; and that the Boers have at last arisen to a sense of the injustice of the intrusion, and are minded to drive these usurpers from their shores, is a commendable exposition of belligerency.

The probability of their being successful in their laudable efforts is more than likely. In the first place, every man, woman and adult, in this region, are expert shots. To kill a wild beast, the eye, the temple or the ear must be chosen as the mark, else the animal will slay the hunter. Long experience in the jungle has taught these people the craft of true marksmanship; and seventy years on the tablelands of the Transvaal, 5000 feet above the sea, with its clear air, qualifies them for a species of long distance practice, with which the Briton is not familiar. This skill as marksmen served them well back in the eighties, and the English still remember with misgivings that bloody dawn on Majuba hill, which won for the Boers that semblance of independence upon which the British lion again has encroached.

Kruger has a considerable number of Krupp cannon which he has purchased in the past, for just this situation, and they are manned by Prussian gunners.

The English can at best only drive the Boers back out of Natal, even if they escape from Ladysmith with reinforcements; for once their enemy has passed through the Laing's Neck Tunnel, they will hold it. This is the only practical pass into the Orange Free State. The Laing's Neck (Long Neck) mountains run along the entire north border of Natal. But should this position be yielded, the Boers may yet fall back into the Transvaal (across the valley) and carry on a boulder warfare from mountain fastnesses, as do the Swiss.

Though the English control the mouth of the Orange river, the outlet of the Limpopo, traversing the Transvaal, is in Portuguese territory, and under international ruling, would not preclude the Boers from receiving supplies through this channel.

At any rate, whatever the British acquire by conquest, or are permitted yet to occupy, the price of its retention will be that of perpetual vigilance—military supervision at a questionable price of maintenance.

Let the Boers have your sympathy, and hesitate long, or be of a conviction speedily, to anathematize the attitude of their oppressors.

I am indebted largely to Wm. Schroeder, citizen, traveler, scholar and gunner in Dewey's squadron, for the information given in this essay.

A HOME WEDDING.

Miss Ella Warren and Robert Clifford United in Marriage.

The kindly fate that made Robert Houghton Clifford and Miss Ella Estelle Warren, class-mate, fellow-graduates and friends, further united the currents of their lives last Wednesday night, when they covenanted to love and cherish one another. The consummation of this quiet little romance was a home wedding—quiet, simple, beautiful—held at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. F. D. Warren, at 7:30 o'clock, Wednesday night, Nov. 8.

Palms, cut flowers and potted plants had been arranged about the house so harmoniously that the color effect in the dining room was pink and white and in the parlor, green and white.

The ceremony, performed by Rev. R. L. Waggoner of the M. E. church, was witnessed by over sixty relatives and friends. To the music of Mendelssohn's wedding march, played by Miss Besse Eids, the bride and groom, accompanied by Rev. R. L. Waggoner. The ceremony was performed in the parlor, before a bank of chrysanthemums and palms, during which Miss Eids softly played "Mysodes." The bride, groomed in white Swiss organdie, carried bride's roses. The bridesmaid was attired in cream organdie. She carried red roses.

Following the ceremony came the wedding supper, served by Caterer Ed. Robinson.

Mr. and Mrs. Clifford were the recipients of many beautiful presents in silverware, hand-painted china and cut-glass. A noteworthy circumstance was the fact that seven of the guests witnessed the marriage of the bride's father and mother. Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Houghton of this city, maternal grandparents of the groom, were present.

Mr. and Mrs. Clifford left Thursday morning for Akron, where the groom is employed as draughtsman with Webster, Kemp & Lane. They will be at home at 412 Parkins street after Dec. 15. The bride and groom were both graduated from the Wellington High school with the class of '92. Mrs. Clifford then spent three years in the study of vocal and instrumental music at the Oberlin conservatory. Her talent as a musician has been appreciated by Wellington audiences many times. Mr. Clifford is a graduate of Case School of Applied Science, and is a young man of high character. Among the guests from out of town were: Miss Mamie Gordon of Mt. Vernon, Mrs. G. H. Brown of Perrytown, Mr. and Mrs. T. E. Wood of Brownhelm, Mr. and Mrs. C. D. Houghton of Columbus, Mr. and Mrs. L. S. Dickey and Miss Harriet Mason of Cleveland, Mr. and Mrs. M. R. Sage of Baker's Crossing, and F. S. Crozier and wife of Pittsfield.

J. D. Bridges, Editor "Democrat," Lancaster, N. H., says "One Minute Cough Cure is the best remedy for croup I ever used." Immediately relieves and cures coughs, colds, croup, asthma, pneumonia, bronchitis, grippe and all throat and lung troubles. It prevents consumption. Dr. J. W. Houghton.

Chamberlain's Pain Balm Cures Others, Why Not You?

My wife has been using Chamberlain's Pain Balm, with good results, for a lame shoulder that has pained her continually for nine years. We have tried all kinds of medicines and doctors without receiving any benefit from any of them. One day we saw an advertisement of this medicine and thought of trying it, which we did with the best of satisfaction. She has used only one bottle and her shoulder is almost well.—Adolph L. WHIST CONTEST.

Wellington Team Loses a Close Game at Norwalk.

An interesting and exciting game of whist was played last Thursday night between two teams of four, representing Norwalk and Wellington. The match was played at the rooms of the Norwalk Whist club, Wellington being represented by Messrs. Banning, Sheldon, Laundon and Horr. Twenty-four boards were played, Norwalk winning by a fair score. A return match will be played in Wellington within a few weeks, and by diligent practice the Wellington team expects to defeat their strong opponents, tying the series, and thus necessitating a third match.

The following are the averages of the whistlers at the Comes club for this year, including all who have played three games:

	Played.	Won.	Lost.	Per cent.
Horr	43	30	13	.567
Holiday	57	35	22	.614
Laundon	111	68	43	.613
Banning	112	53	59	.473
Somerville	104	48	56	.442
Tissot	38	13	25	.394
Whitton	3	1	2	.333
Sheldon	55	16	39	.290

The holders of the Wellington Whist medals are again open to challenge by any Wellington pair. Banning and Horr now hold them.

A Society Event.

It is not often that so brilliant and enjoyable a gathering in Wellington society occurs as that of the reception given at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Wean, Friday evening, in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Albert R. Warner. Mr. Warner had lately returned from a wedding tour in the Southern States, and this was the first introduction to Wellington society of his accomplished bride. The host and hostess had spared nothing that could contribute to the perfect entertainment of the large number of guests who from eight to ten thronged the rooms of their elegant home.

Used by British Soldiers in Africa.

Capt. C. G. Dennison is well known all over Africa as commander of the forces that captured the famous rebel Ghalishe. Under date of Nov. 4, 1887, from Vryburg, Bechuanaland, he writes: "Before starting on the last campaign I bought a quantity of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy, which I used myself when troubled with bowel complaint, and had given to my men, and in every case it proved most beneficial." The Meteoric Shower.

It is fortunate and entirely satisfactory to Wellington people that the meteors should help them out in celebrating the coming of our first very own Brigadier General. And as the time of Gen. Metcalf's coming was a little uncertain, so the meteoric shower is not absolutely certain as to date. Young people especially should watch out for meteors, and if they did not appear last night they are liable to be seen tonight, according to Harvard astronomers. But English astronomers predict their coming on the morning of Nov. 18th, Thursday.

CHRONIC RHEUMATISM.

It is a very simple matter to cure Rheumatism when it has only existed for a short time, but when it becomes chronic the cure takes longer. You cannot change at once from bad to good. We therefore do not promise sudden or marvelous results in the use of Ath-lo-pho-ros, when Rheumatism has become chronic. Still, it is of frequent occurrence to have improvement commence from the very first dose, and one bottle has been known to effect a cure in cases of very long standing. We don't know yet the real way that Ath-lo-pho-ros acts, we only know that it cures Rheumatism of all kinds.

Turtle River, N. D., May 19, 1898.

Gentlemen: I have been troubled with Rheumatism for about twenty-five years, and for months I could not do any work whatever. I happened to get a bottle of your Ath-lo-pho-ros, and I found I felt much better and was relieved greatly of pain, and ever since I tried the first bottle have met with great success.
